This Is 102 With FML

The Soviet slant on journalism is rather curious. Perhaps it is of interest only to newspaper people, but I think it is rather indicative of the Socialist - Communist order.

It seems that a group of Russian journalists was touring the United States in recent weeks, viiting newspaper plants and exchanging views with American newsmen.

One of their comments was a jibe at the son - in - law of Arthur Sulzberger, who was recently named New York Times publisher to succeed his father - in - law. Something was said about how the American press, even The Times, handed dictatorship down through the family, not recognizing pure ability.

But over the weekend another son - in - law was in the news on a TV debate. His subject was Russian journalism and its merits compared to those of U. S. newspapers. His name Pavel A Satyukov, editor of Pravda, largest Russian newspaper. His father - in - law: Nikita Khrushchev.

102 - 102 - 102

Perhaps it is well to add as a footnote the names of the publishers of six newspapers in Moscow. Of course we all know that the Russian government controls their press, but see how complete that control is:

PRAVDA (Truth); publishers Central Committee of Communist Party of the Soviet Union; printed in 16 cities and considered the most authoritative daily newspaper

IZVESTIA (News); Publishers, presidium of USSR, Supreme Soviet, printed in eight cities and rated authority on foreign affairs and work of Soviets.

SOVETSKAYA ROSSIA (Soviet Russia); publishers, Russian Republic Communist Party Bureau and Russian Republic Council of Ministers, printed in eight cities.

KOMSOLMOLSKAYA PRAVDA (Young Communist League Truth); publishers, Central Committee of Young Communist League.

TRUD (Labor); publishers, Central Council of Trade Unions.

KRASNAYA ZVEZDA (Red Star) publisher, Ministry of Defense; about military affairs.

102 - 102 - 102

Comrade, that is bureaucracy, It would take Nikita Khrushchev's son - in - law to run that show.

Big Rain Boosts Milam Cotton

By J. D. Moore

The good rains gave cotton a big boost. Lack of moisture during early plant development retarded growth of the plant and farmers were concerned about the small stalk. The normal cotton plant develops the framework of the plant during April, May and mid June. Then as the stalk starts fruiting, plant growth is diverted into the squares, blooms and bolls. You just don't haul a big load in a little wagon. The rains made it possible to expect plant growth along with normal fruiting.

The cotton won't all be harvested during one month. For example, Frank Mikulec of the Marak community and Ted Ford of the Briary community, have fields of late March planted cotton. Half grown bolls are in these fields now and these men will easily harvest a bale by late July or early August.

On the otherhand, we nave quite a lot of cotton planted in July and is in the 4 leaf stage. It takes about 160 days from planting to harvest. Most of the cotton is in the white bloom stage. Eighty to 90 days after the first white bloom, 70 per cent of the crop will be ready to harvest.

Insect infestation is light as compared to this date last year. Boll weevils are the bugs to watch. Farmers are urged to make regular square counts by walking diagonally across a field and pull one hundred squares at random Examine the squares for weevil damage and if 15 to 20 percent show weevil damage, apply poisons.

Methyl Parathion applied at the rate of 1 to 1½ pints per will control boll weevils. There is no need to add DDT unless worms are present. We do not expect boll worm infestation before July 10.

If there is any truth in the old adage, "A bad beginning makes a good ending," we should do all right with the 1961 cotton crop.

Looks To 100th Birthday

Dr. Cotton Celebrates 95th

Dr. S. R. Cotton observed his 95th birthday Tuesday with calls visits from many friends of his 35 years in Cameron.

Relaxing in his home at 708 North Central, Dr. Cotton recalled his early days in Pennsylvania and his decision at age 60 to become a chiroprator.

From the time of his birth, June 27, 1866, until his 60th birthday, Dr. Cotton lived on his family's farm in Pennsylvania Dutch country of Pulski, Pa.

But while his son was studying at the Texas Chiropractic College in San Antonio he came to Texas for a visit, became interested in the then new field of Chiropratics, and enrolled at the college.

At an age when many plan retirement, Dr. Cotton left behind the farm that had been in his family for 110 years and launched a new career.

The Cottons moved to Cameron in November, 1926 taking over the practice of the local chiropractor who was in ill health. His first office over the old Palace of Sweets (now Harden's Jewelry) and his early years of practice were not to be a smooth road.

Soon after moving here the Cottons' home was destroyed by fire, then the Palace of Sweets burned, and his office with it.

Later, a third fire destroyed his office and eqipment. Undaunted, Dr. Cotton and his wife, who was his office assistant, opened a new office at 302 N. Main where they remained until his retirement three years ago.

Dr. Cotton joined the Presbyterian Church when he was 21 years old and has been an active member since that time. He is now ruling elder of the First Presbyterian Church in Cameron. His brother was a noted Presbyterian theologian who taught Hebrey and Greek at the Presbyterian seminary in Louisville, Kentucky.

He takes great pride in his family, with pictures of his three great - grand - children prominently displayed in his livingroom. His oldest son, Dr. George Cotton, is a practicing chiropractor in Temple and his second son, Logan, has an accounting firm in Redondo Beach, Calif. The Cottons, who love to travel have visited California several times and are looking forward to a visit from their California family in November.

On his 95th birthday, Dr. Cotton remains quick and alert, still enjoys good food and although hampered by poor eyesight, studies his Bible daily.

As his interview ended, Dr. Cotton bade your writer farewell, saying he hoped that I would live to be 100. It was evident that he was looking forward to his 100th birthday.

Ellison Elected MFU President

Dick Ellison, of Baileyville, was elected president of the newly chartered Milam County Farmers Union in a meeting Friday night at Simon - George Hall.

Other officers elected were: James McCrary of Sharp, vice - president; and Mrs. Fritz Doss, Rockdale route, secretary-treasurer.

Alex Dickey, president of the Texas Farmers Union, addressed the group of about 70 persons, explaining four bases of the Texas farm organization:

"1. Establishing a bargainign position for farmers.

"2. Strengthening the family farm.

"3. Parity of farm income.

"4. Food for peace program."

He lauded President Kennedy and Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman fo rtheir efforts in forwarding the 1961 Farm Bill, under consideration in Washington.

Dickey said the Farmers Union was for the farmers, not against business or labor. He said farmers are in a depression and a solution is a "program to do what others have already done."

Don Yarborough, candidate for lieutenant governor in the 1960 elections, briefly addressed the group, and endorsed the work of the Farmers Union and the statements of Dickey

Dickey presented the charter to Ellison after he was elected president of the organization. Ellison said the three newofficers would appoint community chairmen subject to the approval of a Milam Farmers Union convention.

Dickey said that farmers sought "nothing more than equal protection under the law" in organizing ability to pay for things and "put ourselves as farmers in a position to bargain and live lke people in the cities.."

"If subsidy is bad, it is bad for all - industry, labor, the farmer," he said. "If it is socialistic to control production, it is the same for steel, petroleum andother industries.

Khrushchev Sprints To Showdown

"Comrades! There is only America. And this country can be compared to a worn out runner. He had the prize — but others have been born, reared and are now running."

Thus spoke the present keeper of the Russian Bear, posing an emotion-packed condemnation of future U. S. world leadership. No surprise is it, that "buryin' Nikita" Khrushchev predicted the USSR's world dominance by 1970?

Acknowledging second place in 1961, Khrushchev went on to say: "The United States is now running on its past reputation but at the finish line the young, fresh, strong runner will break the tape and our Socialist country — young, strong, organized, mobilized — is snapping at the heels of America . . ."

Of course Khrushchev is taking advantage of accomplishments of Communist strategy in Laos, Cuba and Latin America, considering the tone of UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson's report.

And now he is pouring it on for the world to ponder as a buildup starts for the Berlin crisis. President Kennedy has appointed Gen. Maxwell Taylor, former Army chief of staff, as his special military adviser. It appeared to be a counter to Russian threat of Berlin crisis and continuing problems in Cuba following the ill-fated rebel invasion. Taylor has been mentioned as a possible successor to Allen Dulles, now head of Central Intelligence Agency.

Everything is pointed to the showdown later this year. It would appear that U. S. policy might seek an aggressive concession from Russia in some other quarter, following a buildup of Western strength.

A showdown is imminent.

Estimated 25 Will Meet Death On Texas Highways During Holiday

The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety announced today previous holiday experience in Texas indicates 25 persons will meet violent death on the Fourth of July, 1961.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr. said the release of this official prediction "is intended to serve as a challenge to all Texans to prove our estimate is too high."

In announcing the grim forecast, Garrison said the DPS will place in effect "Operation Deathwatch" effective from 12:01 a. m. to 11:59 p. m. on July 4 during which triaffic deaths, homicides and suicides and fatal accidents other than traffic will be tabulate against the prediction.

The department's Statistical Service Manager, N. K. Woerner, estimates that 11 perosns will be killed in traffic accidents during the 24 hour period, that five will be victims of homicide or suicide and that nine will die in drownings and other types of fatal accidents.

"The department's purpose in conducting such an operation is to focus public attention on the fact that holiday driving is more dangerous than usual because more vehicles are on the highways—as well as to compile date which is vital to the constantly-changing problems of traffic supervision", Garrison said.

"In addition to the "Deathwatch" the department will augment the regular Highway Patrol force with from the Motor Vehicle Inspection and License and Weight services during the 24 hour period in an effort to keep down the violations that cause accidents."

The DPS director called special attention to the fact that the records show at least one law violation is involved in most fatal accidents in Texas.

"This should prove," he said, "that there is a definite contribution individuals can make to greater highway safety -- legal driving."

Garrison pointed out that while emphasis must be placed on holiday traffic hazards, his department also has concern for other incidents which take human lives. He reminded that during a three - day Fourth of July holiday last year, 10 persons were the victims of drowning out of a total of 15 nontraffic fatalities resulting from other accients.

"With more boats on the waters of our state than ever before," he continued, " extra precautions should be taken this Fouth of July to avoid tragedy. Boaters should be sure there is a file preserver for every boat occupant and, above all, don't overload or overpower your boat.,"

Garrison also reminded boaters that 45 miles per hour is the speed limit for all vehicles pulling trailers.

State Capitol In Quiet Period

By Vern Sanford

AUSTIN — State Capitol is having a relatively quiet period -- somewhat like the "eye" of a hurricane.

Legislators are at home, adn Gov. Price Daniel has gone to Hawaii for the National Governor's Conference. Officially, the "time out" ends July 10 when the special tax session begins.

But despite the lull, sharp gusts of differing opinion are still blowing. Before leaving, Gov. Daniel issued a parting blast at lobbyists in particular and critics of his anti - sales tax stand in general. He is thinking of asking for tighter lobby control measures, particularly in regard to reporting of money spent to influence legislation. He also accused opponents of his tax plan of being unwilling to compromise.

Lawmakers are having their say before the Daniel - appointed committee to study tax measures. Sen. Wardlow Lane, sponsor of the Senate - passed sales tax bill, took a dim view of the "compromise" talk. Legislature compromised on taxes in 1959, he reminded, and the state government ended up more deeply in debt.

As to lobby control, Sen. Lane said the Legislature had already passed the measure that the governor had said would do the job. In general, Sen Lane urge "a stop politicking and get on with the job" approach.

New Laws Completed

Before leaving for Hawaii, Gov. Daniel signed scores of bills into law, vetoed a few, and otherwise cleared the decks from the 57th regular session.

He signed the bill which will allow the University of Houston to become fully state - supported in the fall of 1963. This bill was the cause of a month - long filibuster in the Senate.

He let become law without his signature a measure known as the Carling Brewery bill, also highly controversial. It was sought by the Carling Brewery which plans to buill a $20,000,000 plant in Fort Worth. Under the bill, a brewery may continue to operate in an area even if it is voted dry. By not signing it, the governor demonstrated his lack of enthusiasm.

Although the Legislature passed 549 bills in the regular session. Only 14 were vetoed by the governor.

School Bus Prices Probed

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has launched inquiry into the prices being paid by the state for school buses.

Wilson announced courts of inquiry to be held in Austin, Dallas and perhaps later in San Antonio. He said investigation has been under way for six weeks and had revealed that Texas was paying from 10 to 25 per cent more for school buses than other states. He said there was no evidence of identical bids, but that he felt there was a strong possiblity of "rigged bidding."

School buses are bought by the Board of Control with state school funds on the basis of sealed bids. Bus dealers could, if found guilty of conspiring together over prices, be subject to both civil and criminal anti - trust suits.

(Courts of inquiry are not trials, but proceedings for the taking of sworn testimony to see if there is evidence for filing suits).

Thanks Go For Sec. Visit Here

By Cong. Bob Poage

First, let me thank all of you who contributed to the success of Secretary Freeman's recent visit to Central Texas. Although the weather refushed to cooperate, our people did a wonderful job. In turn, I am sure that those of you who heard him will agree that Mr. Freeman did a good job himself. It is important that we keep Central Texas before the administrative officials at Washington. This visit was helpful in that respect.

This week I went to South Texas and met teh Secretary of Interior, Stewart Udall, and Vice-President Johnson. They dedicated the water treatment plant at Freeport, where we are now converting sea water into fresh water. This is the first of five desoltotion plants which the government is building. Each one will use a different method in an effort to obtain the most effective and economical process. In my opinion, it is of tremendous importance that we develop a cheap and reliable method of removing salt from water. By doing this, we can offer the most tangible kind of help to vast regions of the world, as well as to many areas at home. Most people have no idea just what a large part of the surface of this earth needs fresh water.

After leaving Freeport we flew to Corpus Christi and visited Padre Island. We later flew the length of the Island to Brownsville and then back to Washington, arriving here at 2 a. m. I think there is no question but that Padre Island should be acquired by the government as a national seashore park. It is, of course, nothing more than a beach, but it is a beautiful beach, and in the years to come, ocean beaches available to all the people are going to become more and more limited.

While speaking of parks, I have long wanted to see Texas acquire a number of outstanding local beauty spots as state parks. I think, for instance, that the State should definitely own Hamilton's Pool, Bear Mountain, Enchanted Rock, the Double Mountain, etc., and that we should connect most of these spots with scenic drives or parkways. If we don't acquire these areas soon, they may be lost to the public forever because of commercialization.

Yesterday the House passed the Housing Bill, which continues the authority for government -- guaranteed loans which play such an important part in our present day real estate business, for the Marlin Elderly Housing and for the Urban Renewal Program, which is of such vital importance to Waco in connection with the development incident to our new highway system through the city. I voted for the bill.

FARM SAFETY WEEK

July 23 - 29 is National Farm Safety Week, and W. L. Ulich, extension agricultural engineer, says an excellent way to start preparing for it would be to make the farm pond a safe recreational area.

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER

Philosopher Declines To Use A Shovel, Speculates On De-Salted Ocean Water For Farm

Dear editar:

I was sitting under a tree some distance away from my house yesterday afternoon where it was quieter, on account of I had just declined to shovel some dirt for my wife on the grounds that I read the newspaper and am fully aware of the dangers of a shovel, although I wish to say I don't rely on Washington to do my thinking and I declined to use a shovel years before Mr. Kennedy tried his hand at it and pulled out a newspaper I had been saving for just such an emergency and read an article that interested me.

According to it, an experimental plant has been put into operation changing salt water out of the ocean to fresh, drinkable water, and several more plants are being built.

Eventually, the article said, seawater can be de - salted so efficiently and cheaply that it will be available for city use, industrial use and maybe even finally for agricultural use.

It was this last use that interests me. According to one speculative article on this, one day pipes carrying ocean water will be run all over the country and all a farmer will have to do when he needs a rain is turn on a bydrant and irrigate his crops. This, it said, will whip the weather problem and make farming one of the easiest jobs on earth.

I am afraid the fellow who thought that up is a little overenthusiastic.

In the first place, farming is farming, which is to say work, whether you get your moisture out of a pipe or out of the clouds.

In the second place, if somebody runs a pipe with de - salted sea water out to my Johnson grass farm, I have a notion that just on the far side of the hydrant he'll install a meter, and before he turns the water on, he'll come up to my house and want a substantial deposit. Then when water flows over my farm, the meter will start clicking and it won'be be a free gift from the clouds but another bill to fave on the first of the month. I'm not saying it shouldn't be this easy, all I'm saying is that it won't make farming the easiest job on earth. The only way to make farming easy is to farm like I do, but I don't recommend the method if the world wants to keep eating.

Yours faithfully
J. A.
